Mid-sized category with material negative impact on overall growth

Long-term Trajectory: GPV & Volume Growth

Cumulative performance through November 2022 shows strong and accelerating growth over time

Growth Inflection Point: Cumulative GPV exhibits a clear acceleration starting in Q2 2022, signaling strong scaling momentum.

Operational Alignment: Transaction volume growth tightly mirrors GPV trends, indicating a healthy, volume-driven revenue model with stable transaction values.

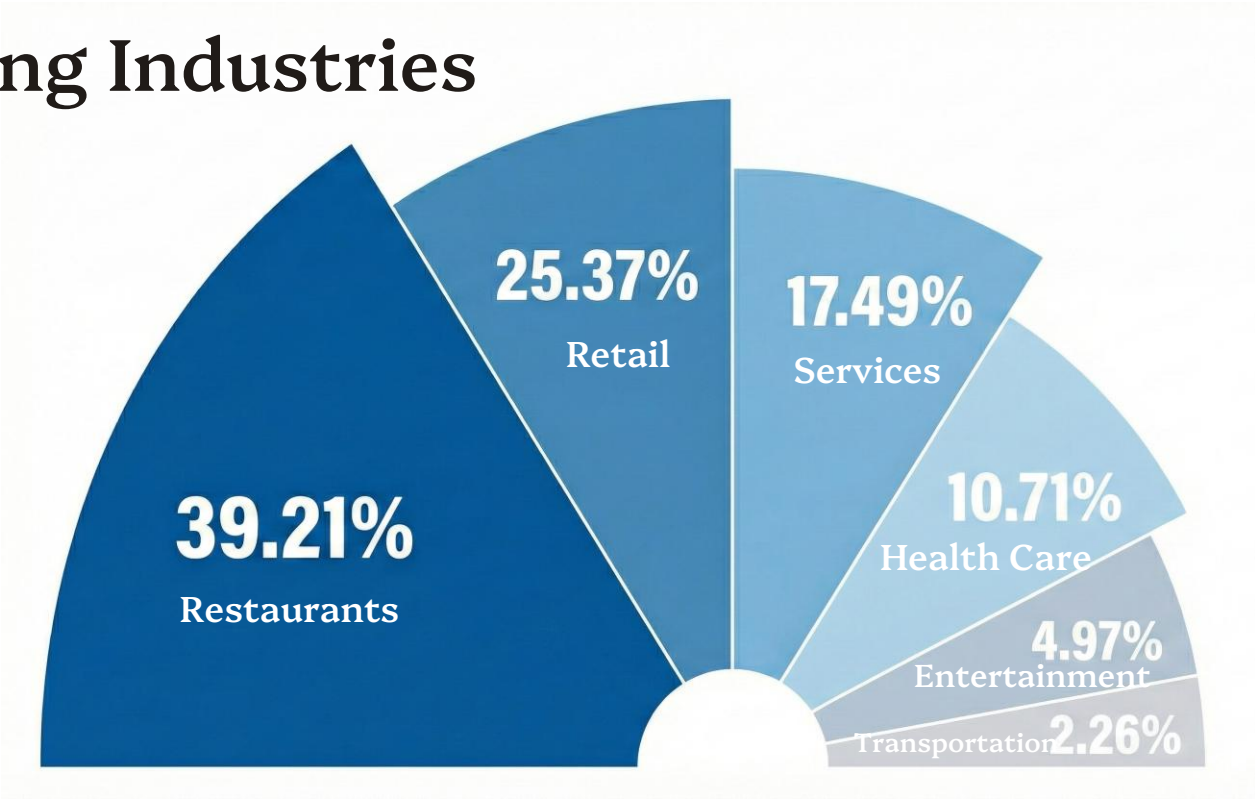

Sector Dominance: Restaurants and Retail remain the primary pillars, contributing the lion's share of cumulative GPV.

Diversification Opportunity: Bottom Performing Industries

Portfolio Concentration Risk

The bottom three industries represent only 18% of total merchant portfolio, creating potential vulnerability to market-specific downturns.

Industry	Total GPV ($)	Active Merchants	Transaction Count	Avg Transaction Value($)	Avg Transactions per Merchant
Transportation	$0.37M	15	1453	$257.83	96.87
Entertainment	$0.82M	39	3219	$255.69	82.54
Health Care	$1.77M	77	6941	$255.68	90.14

High Unit Value

Low volume is driven by merchant count, not poor performance. Average Transaction Value remains robust at $255+

High ROI Opportunity

A mere 15 merchants drive $0.37M in GPV, achieving the top average transactions size ($257.83) among all bottom-tier industries.
